A WAIL FROM NEW-HAVEN. DISCOURAGING REPORTS AS TO THE PROSPECTS

IN THE PRINCETON GAME TO MORROW. New-Haven, Nov. 10 (Special).-Yale has begun her final struggle to get the team into shape for the big games. It seems an almost hopeless task, and the students feel anything but confident. But with coaches innumerable on the field giving personal attention to each and every player on the team, and the "Yale spirit" ruling everywhere, such a task has been done before, and history may repeat itself. Secret practice is held every morning in the gymnasium lot, the team running through the signals and rehearing new tricks which it is hoped will deceive Captain Hillebrand's men. New coaches appear every day, and the list now comprises F. A. Hinkey, '85; L. T. Bliss, '95 S. V. C. McCormick, '93 S.; S. B. Thorne, '96; P. T. Stillman, '95 S.; W. C. Winter, '93 S.; F. S. Butterworth, 95; W. C. Wallace, '89; W. W. Heffelfinger and Harmore Graves.

The ends of the line have been getting weaker and weaker daily. Hubbell has faculty complications, and Coy a badly bruised shoulder, which gets worse daily. Coy, when in shape, has proved himself a valuable man, but from present appear-gets worse daily. Coy, when in shape, has proved himself a valuable man, but from present appearances it is probable that he may end the season a striking example of good material overtrained. Eddy is too light and erratic, and Sharpe and Thomas are not up to Varsity standard; Slocovich is the only end who is in shape, and he is being diligently coached.

Stillman, who has been tried at tackle lately, is fast bringing himself into notice, and it would not surprise many to see him at this position to-morrow in Allen's place. He is much more aggressive, just as strong, and in botter health. Marshall is improving at guard, but Catten has stomach trouble and has lost weight alarminaly.

In the back field the situation is even more desperate. M. V. Els, who is in the Law School this year, has been asked to come out, and he played quarter-back on the scrob yesterday. De Saulles is still unable to risk his ankie in a practice game, and it would be no surprise to the undergraduates if Sullivan or Ely should enter the Princetch game at quarter, while De Saulles is saved for the Horvard contest. Sullivan fumbles braily and loses his head, and Ely is not seasoned for a hard champion ship game. Marvin, Benjamin and Townshend are still lame. Corwin is very weak from ionsillitis, and Wear went to the infirmary on Monday and Tuesday, but his troubles are supposed to be only temporary, and he will play surely on Saturday. If he could not, Yale would be without the services of the man on whom probably more reliance is placed than on any other single player.

On Tuesday evening many of the undergraduates assembled in Alumni Hall and rehearsed the songs which will be sung to-morrow. Yale recognizes the great need of concerted cheering, and will surely profit by the descent aught by Princeton last year at the Yale Field.

The team will leave New-Haven to-morrow, and will stop overnight at the Murray Hill Hotel, going to Princeton on Saturday morring.

QUAKERS IN BAD SHAPE. SOME DOUBT ABOUT THE OUTCOME OF THE GAME

WITH THE INDIANS.

Philadelphia, Nov. 10 (Special).-The Indian game comes on Saturday, and Pennsylvania is hardly in fit condition successfully to meet the red men. Last year the Indians taught the Quakers a lesson which helped them to a large extent in defeating Harvard. This year it is "Johnny" Harvard who has done the teaching, but Pennsylvania will not likely profit by it as she did in the year before.

likely profit by it as she did in the year before.

Since the defeat last Saturday at Cambridge Pennsy has been giving anything but satisfactory exhibitions. The great falling off in the work back of the line has quite discouraged Woodruff. As a last resource he has taken Folwell from left end last resource he has taken Folwell from left end and placed him at fullback. Outland and Coombs playing at haifback. Folwell is a strong fellow, end in practice he showed much speed in hitting the line. The change, on the whole, has been field the team's playing.

McMahon is picked to play left end, and, as he has been playing at haifback all along this year, great work cannot be expected of him. Then, too, he is not in the best of condition.

The team has sustained a great loss in the retirement of Goodwin, left tackle. His leg is in bad condition, and is giving him considerable trouble. Reugenberg will take his place, and will fill it acceptably.

PRINCETON'S FINAL PRACTICE. ALL THE MEN BUT REITER IN SHAPE TO BEGIN THE GAME WITH VALE.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 10.-A pouring rain all the forencen turned Brokaw Field into a shallow lake. Another open practice had been announced, but when Dr. Wright strolled down the field and saw its condition the order of the day was rescinded. Captain Hillebrand kept his braves at Osborne Eight horses ran over the course; distance, one Field, in the cage, and there his twenty select men had their own way. The scrubs were relieved from duty, and the last work that might be called practice was taken. The coaches gave the last words of advice, and all their nicely planned plays were executed for the last time until Saturday.

Wheeler and Ayres each took a turn at fullback, and so did Hutchinson, Duncan, Black, Kafer. Geer and Pell. The next time they line up each man will know whether he is to have the honor of being in the Princeton eleven when the bull starts. After a half-hour of cage practice the rain began to slacken, and the men came out on Osborne Field to run through the plays where there was more room.

Field to run through the plays where there was more room.

Princeton has come through her injuries in a remarkable manner, and Rester seems to be the only man who will not play Wheeler. Hutchinson, Beardsley and Rafer were all doubtful at the beginning of the week, but careful practice and good work on the part of their trainer and br. Wright have brought them all around in fairly good shape. They can start, but it is speculation to say how long they can last. Princeton men are in mortal fear of a repetition of the scenes that occurred in New-Haven last tall, when the best of the team were carried off, one by one. This fear keeps down confidence, which might otherwise rise several notches.

TICKETS FOR THE YALE-PRINCETON GAME. The management of the Yale-Princeton football game that is to be played to-morrow at Princeton have certainly cutwitted the ticket speculators, ton have certainly cutwitted the ticket speculators, and the result is that the cutside public, those of it who desire to see the game, can secure their tickets at the regular box-office prices without paying fabulous sums for them. For some time the committee has been besteged with ticket speculators who desired to purchase tickets, but in all cases the applications were rejected, the idea being that as soon as the students received their allotments the rest would be put on sale and no difference would be sked in price. To-day the seats not allotted, and there are not many of them, will be placed on sale at Spalding's downtown and uptown stores, No. 125 to 130 Nassau-st, and Nos. 25, 31 and 33 West Forty-becond-st. The sale will take place to-day only.

YACHTING.

RULES CHANGED AT A SPECIAL MEETING

OF THE NEW-YORK YACHT CLUB. A special marting of the New-York Yacht Club was held last night at the clubhouse, No. 67 Madisom-ave., at 8:29 o'cieck, for the purpose of making some important alterations in the bylaws.

Commodore J. Plerpont Morgan presided, and the meeting was largely attended. Oswald Sanderson brought up his new and valuable proposal as to admitting yachts as small as 30-footers to representation in the club and to the annual cruises. A large contingent of those who were also members of the Larchmont Yacht Club attended, in order to give the new proposals a good send-off. Paragraph 1 of Chapter IV of the bylaws was amended to read as follows:

amended to read as follows:

A yacht shall be represented at meetings and otherwise in the club by her owner, or by any one of her owners (if there be more than one), all of whom must be members of the club. If a steam yacht, a certified coay of permanent enrolment, deposited with the secretary, shall be considered a proper registry. No yacht shall be considered a proper registry. No yacht shall be entitled to representation until she shall have been registered on the club's record in the name of her owner or owners, shall have been launched, and a certificate signed by the measurer, filed with the secretary, specifying her dimensions and rig, and, if a sail yessel, her racing measurements, that she is of thirty feet load water-line length or over, if single masted, of sloop or cutter rig, and that she is a full-decked vessel reasonable cockpit excepted.

Paragraph I of the bylaws, in reference to the ennual dues, was amended to read as follows:

annual dues, was amended to read as follows:

ennual dues, was amended to read as follows:

Each member, on his election, shall pay the sum of $100 as entrance fee, and $20 as dues for the current year. If said sums are not paid within thirty days from the date of his election the treasurer shall notify the secretary of the fact, and such election shall be null and void. Each subsequent annual payment shall be $50, and shall become due at the first general meeting in each year. Foreigners, members of yacht clubs in their own country and not residing in the United States, shall be exempt from all payments, except entrance fee Members who are absent from the United States for the whole fiscal year, commencing on the second Thursday in February, shall be exempt from their dues for such year; provided they give notice of their absence to the secretary.

Howard W. Coates said, after the meeting was Howard W. Coates said, after the meeting was over, that members of the Latchmont Yacht Club over, that members of the Larchmont Yacht Club-were much in favor of the new movement to ad-mit smaller yachts to representation in the New-York Yacht Club, and believed it would greatly add to the interest to be taken in yachting gen-erally next year. It was said after the meeting was over that the yachtsman who is now having the interesting Si-foot schooner designed by Gardner & Cox, in Com-modore F. M. Hoyt, of the Stamford Yacht Club.

The new two-sticker is intended to race with Com-modore Postley's Colonia and J. Rogers Maxwell's Emerald, and it holds the best promise that has yet been made for the racing of next season.

RACING.

MEETING OF THE JOCKEY CLUB. ACTION ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE Business of considerable importance was acted upon at the regular monthly meeting of The ckey Club, held yesterday afternoon at the office of the club, No. 173 Fifth-ave. James Galway, H. K. Knapp, C. Fellowes, Andrew Miller, P. J. Dwyer, F. K. Sturgls, W. C. Whitney and F. R. Hitchcock were present.

interest centred in nine proposed amendments to the rules of racing, which were brought up for final consideration and action. Only two amend-ments were lost. One of the amendments which was not passed was to the effect that Rule 10 should be changed by striking out the words "from the members of The Jockey Club." If the proposed change had been made the rule would read as fol-

There shall be three stewards of the meeting: one appointed by The Jockey Club, one by the rac-ing association at whose track the meeting shall take place, and a third who shall be elected by the two stewards aforesaid.

It was proposed that Rule 147 should be amended by adding the following sentence: "A jockey under suspension shall not be permitted to ride in races for any one during the period of his suspension. This amendment was rejected. Rule 62 wa changed by the addition of the following para-"Entries and declarations by telegraph must be promptly confirmed in writing." An important change was made in Rule 77 by amending the scale of weights for age by reducing the the scale of weights for two and three miles six pounds, except for two-year-olds, in respect to which the rule remains unaltered. The fourth paragraph in the same rule was amended by striking out the words the weights are fixed absolutely in the conditions," and substituting the clause, "where put out, the conditions expressly state to the contrary.'
The paragraph as passed reads as follows:

Except in handleaps and in races where the condi-tions expressly state to the contrary, fillies two years old shall be allowed three pounds, and mares three years old and upward shall be allowed five pounds before September I, and three pounds after-ward. Geldings shall be allowed three pounds.

Another amendment adopted was that the following paragraph in Rule No. 77 be stricken out: If, in a handicap for which there is a minor for-feit declared by a fixed time after the publication of the weights, the highest weight accepting was originally less than 128 pounds, it shall be raised to that weight, and the other acceptances equally.

The second paragraph in Rule No. 80 was amended so as to read: "No horse shall carry extra weight nor be barred from any race for having run second or in any lower place in a race." be barred from any race," were added.

The second paragraph in Rule No. 128 amended by adding after the phrase, "in all selling races," the words, "except selling handicaps." The paragraph as adopted was as follows:

All boys who, while under age, have of their own free will and with the consent of their parents or guardians, bound themselves to an owner or trainer for a term of not less than three years by a written instrument, copy of which has been lodged with the Jockey Club, are permitted during their apprenticeship to claim a five-pound allowance in all selling races, except selling handicaps, provided no horse carries less than eighty-four pounds. They will be entitled to this allowance for one year (or 265 days) after winning their first race in any country.

In the third paragraph of Rule No. 126 the word was stricken out and the words "naming the price" substituted. The paragraph, with the change made, is to the effect that:

The allowance of five pounds for apprentices under this rule must be claimed at the time of naming the price, and be so stated in the entry, and the owner shall not be permitted to abandon such allowance, except by consent of the stewards.

RACING AT BENNINGS TO-MORROW. Washington, Nov. 19 .- The fall meeting of the Washington Jockey Club begins at the Bennings track on Saturday, and the present expectation is track on Saturday, and the present expectation is that almost every stable of any prominence now in training will be represented. President S. S. H.w. land says the meeting promises to be the most successful in the history of the organization, an unusually large number of racing people being expected to attend from New-York. It will continue until the 26th, inclusive, and will close the legitimate racing season of the East. Many stables will go from here to New-Orleans. A number of the horses, however, will winter here, the Bennings track heing considered one of the best wintering points in the country. An interesting programme of flat and jumping races has been prepared. The club will recognize the growing desire for long-distance racing by giving a race on Thanksgiving Day at two and one-quarter miles, a revival of the Washington Cup race, a feature of the sport at the old Ivy City track. About three hundred horses are now at the track.

GOLF.

PROFESSIONALS AND AMATEURS MEET AT BALTUSROL.

TOURNAMENT HELD IN SPITE OF THE RAIN-ANDERSON AND GULLANE THE FOR FIRST MONEY-H. P. TOLER WINS THE

AMATEUR CONTEST.

Sixteen misguided individuals, suffering under the influence of golf, took part in a tournament on the Baltusrol links yesterday. Among most people golf is regarded as a recreation, but under such unced a public menace and prohibited by the Board of Health. The weather was frightful. rain poured down in sheets, turning the links into acres of oozing mud, and covering the putting greens and hollows with lakes of water. It stormed so hard that the rain washed away the tees al had to empty the holes of water before they could put out. Nobody could call this golf, it was simply whacking a little ball as hard as you could, and if you found it the same day you won.

But the contestants seemed oblivious to all discomforts, and many of them kept right on without waiting for luncheon, in order to finish their rounds before dark. Golfers have played in all sorts of weather this senson, but yesterday's tournament was the grandest exhibition of human peroism and disregard for the laws of health that has yet been seen. Some people say golf is a craze, and everybody who journeyed up Baltusro way yesterday will readily concede it. The players were a pitiable sight, drenched to the skin, with their teeth chattering like castancis, and the rain dripping from them like water from a woolly dog. The scorecards they brought in were no better than so much paper pulp, and in most cases were almost But nobody complained, and if that means success the tournament was successful of thirty-six holes, medal play, with money prizes for the professionals and a cup for the winning It was the first tournament of the kind that has taken place since the open championship one in the vicinity of this city since the profes-sional meeting at the Ocean County Hunt and Country Club, of Lakewood, last New Year's Day. The Baltusrol Club arranged it with a view of offering local amateurs an opportunity of measuring their skill by the professional yardstick, and with fair weather hundreds of people were expected to visit the grounds to see the play. Under favorable conditions it would have been a rare treat, for the professionals included some of the most able exponents of the game on this side of the water.

With one exception all of them were men who learned their style in Scotland, from where all good players are supposed to come, and many of them immigrated to this country with wide reputations as players. John Shippen was the only native-born player in the contest, and the only one who has learned his game exclusively in this country. Shippen is the son of the colored minister at the Shinnecock Indian Reservation, and used to caddle on the Shinnecock Hills links, where he later became the professional. Like most negroes, he possesses a wonderful talent for imitation, and this has enabled him to become a capital golfer. Yesterday he first nine holes in 38, a phenomenal score in the circumstances, and his total, 83, for the first eighteen holes, was the lowest of any of the contestants. His afternoon round was not so good, in 96. This gave him a total of 179, and put him in third place. however, and the second eighteen holes were done

Willie Anderson, of the home club, and Harry Gullane, of the Philadelphia Cricket Club, were tied for first place at 168 each. A purse of $100 was offered by the club as first prize and $30 as Shippen's purse for third place was $15. For fourth place & was offered, and this was divided by Willie Tucker, the professional at St. Andrews, and Mungo Park, fr. of Dyker Meadow, who were tied at 189. Willie Davis, the professional of the Newport Golf Club, Just missed getting a place, his final score being 183. Willie Norton, of Lakewood, come next at 185, and then came a tie at 185 between David Hunter, the son of the famous Prestwick professional, who is at present with the Oakland Golf Club, Jack Tucker, of the Pittsfield Golf Club, and Daniel Leitch, of the Century Golf Club, of Westchester. The Rawlins brothers, both of Lakewood, concluded the list, each with a score of 189. Harry Rawlins had the distinction of being the only player who made a hole in 2. He holed out on the ninth green, with his mashle, a distance of sixty feet.

Only four amateurs took part. H. P. Teler, L. P. Bayard, Jr., James A. Tyng and Clinton McKenzie, all of the Baltusrol Club. Of these Toler won rather easily, at 184, and was awarded the cup. Louis P. Bayard, Jr., a son of the president of the club, and the intercollegiate golf champlon in 1897, was second, with a score of 192. Tyng finished at 195 and McKenzie at 226. CYCLING.

MOVEMENT TO DISPENSE WITH STATE RACING OFFICIALS.

MEMBERS OF THE NEW-YORK CONSULATE INTER ESTED IN HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT-BICY-

A noteworthy movement on the part of the local consulate is the appointment of a special committee to examine the constitution and bylaws of the National body and determine whether there is anything therein to prevent the New-York State division from revising its constitution in such a manner as to eliminate every reference to racing. If it is found that it is possible to do this ar idment will be introduced at the next meet ing of the board of officers of the New-York State Division cutting out every line that relates to racing. The appointment of this committee is popularly supposed to have been caused by the difficulty that the Wait Investigating Committee has experienced in obtaining testimony. The Investigating Committee was appointed to inquire into the action of Chairman A. D. Wait of the State Racing Board, who last June granted a sanction for a race meet at Ambrose Park fo the same date that had previously been given to the Harlem Wheelmen, who were to hold the State meet. Chairman Wait is not only the head of the State Racing Board, but the New-York representative of the National Racing Board, and before the committee he represented first one and before the committee he represented hist one position and next the other, refusing as a member of the National Racing Board to divulge any correspondence between himself and Chalirman Mott, when it was asked for by the committee, on the ground that the committee, being a State creation, had not power to investigate any doings of the National Racing Board. The idea in this radical movement is, if possible, to throw the entire burden of racing matters on the National Board and to dispense with State racing officials.

Certain members of the New-York Consulate are paying considerable attention to the materials that are now being furnished to the city for public | factory the care of the wounded in and after the highway improvement, and it is possible that betore long some of the offerings of contractors will be rejected because they are not according to the specifications of the city's contract. STRIKES IN SHOE INDUSTRY FEARED.

MARLBORO FIRMS ABROGATE ALL TRADES-UNION AGREEMENTS. Mariboro, Mass., Nov. 10.-The Middlesex shoe factory of the Rice & Hutchins Company opened its doors this morning to receive the applications for employment by shoe workers, who are willing for employment by shoe workers, who are willing to work under new conditions. The factory, which is one of three the firm has in this city, has been closed since August, owing to a strike of its employes against what was alleged to be the tyranny of a forewoman. The new rules are directly opposed to labor unions, and state that all price lists and labor agreements made between the firm and representatives of organized labor terminated yesterday. November 2, and that in future such price lists would be introduced as would have uniform prices and good wages. The firm will not allow any interference by outside parties, and any controversies which may arise must be settled by the company and the shoewokers individually or by committees.

company and the shoewokers individually or by committees.

Later the C. S. Howe Company, one of the largest concerns of the kind in the State, announced that its employes must agree to conditions similar to these demanded by Rice & Hutchins. The Howe Company gave its help until November 23 to accede to the terms. This concern owns four factories and employs several hundred hands.

1. A. Frye, another manufacturer, has also informed his employes that he will treat with them only as individuals, and save them until November 23 to agree to his demands.

A feeling of alarm has taken possession of the business men, and from the present outlook serious stikes in many of the factories are impending. The Boot and Shoe Workers Union will hold a meeting soon and will decide on a policy by which they hope to defeat the aims of the manufacturers.

The special committee of the Chamber of Commerce which was appointed to arrange for a memorfal to Colonel George E. Waring, jr., met yesterday afternoon and decided to raise an endow-ment fund of $100,000, the income of which should ment tund of stoom, the income of which should be paid to Mrs. Waring during her life, the fund at her death to be devoted to the endowment of a professorship in Columbia, to be known as the 'Waring Chair of Municipal Affairs.' THE ARMY INVESTIGATION.

TAKING OF TESTIMONY BEGUN BY A COMMITTEE IN DETROIT.

EVIDENCE GIVEN AS TO CARE OF THE SICK AT SANTIAGO AND IN CAMPS.

Detroit, Nov. 10.-The Western section of the War Department investigating Commission to-day began the examination of witnesses at the Hotel Cadillaco jor A. W. Corliss, of the 7th Infantry, was the first witness. He was in camp at Chickamaug and Tampa, went to Caba with General Shafter's army, was wounded at the battle of El Caney, and returned to New-York on the transport Seneca-At El Caney, he said, his men had a fair quantity of rations, but there was some growling. After being wounded Major Corliss was an inmate of several hospitals, and in all of them he said he fared well. "There were two contract surgeons of board the Seneca." he said, "but they could not ge any thermometers or any delicacies for the sick, except a little maited milk and cereals. Most of the supplies were obtained at the last moment, I think from the Relief. There was one nurse on board, Miss Jennings."

Dr. Conner-Do you know whether any effort was made by these medical officers to secure supplies except from the Relief?

Major Corliss-I do not. The Relief was asked to furnish a certain amount of drugs when it was discovered that there was not a sufficient quantity on board the Seneca. The men were fairly well taken care of, notwithstanding the scarcity of General Dodge read a statement reported to have been made by a soldier of the 7th Regiment, to the effect that positions as corporal were readily obtained by paying a stipulated price. "That is a lie," replied Major Corliss.

CONDITIONS ON TRANSPORTS.

First Lieutenant O. S. Rosenbaum, quartermaster of the 7th Infantry, testified that he was with the regiment in Cubs from the time it left Tampa until it reached Montauk Point, on August 27. statements were that the men fared fairly well as to food through the campaign. His command re-were well taken care of. Captain Charles A. Booth, 7th Infantry, testified that he returned with three companies on the auxiliary cruiser Prairie, which had no accommodations for carrying troops. There were no regular nurses aboard, and the two doctors, witness considered, were young and inexperienced, and hardly qualified to cope with the conditions, especially as one of them was ill. Captain Booth said the met were all in such miserable condition from malaria poisoning on reaching Montauk that their stomachs would retain nothing.

Dr. Charles B. Nancred, surgeon of the 334 Michigan Volunteers, testified in relation to conditions as he had observed them at Camp Alger, Siboney and Montauk. Except in reference to water, he thought the site of Camp Alger satisfactory. his judgment the regimental medical officers wer competent as a class, ife commended as satis-Santiago fights. The sick suffered, especially in the early part of the campaign, from the multi-plicity of duties imposed on the medical officers. The fault was not so much the lack of doctors, but lack of proper assignment and management of the

Asked as to the efficiency of the division, as compared to the regimental system of hospitals, he said that in his opinion the division hospital was all right in dealing with regular troops, but that with volunteers there should be more than one surgeon with each regiment. He continued: saw at Montauk no wilful neglect, but I did notice inconventences and discomforts, consequent upon the lack of division of labor and responsibility. Interference from friends and relatives was a great source of trouble, and I think caused the furloughing of a great many patients from the hospitals before they were well enough to be re-hospitals before they were were along a moved."

Dr. Lawrence D. Knowles, of the 32d Michigan Volunteers, was heard in reference to the hospitals at Tampa and Fernandina. Palmetto Beach, at Tampa, was not regarded by nim as a good site, chiefly on account of the condition of the soil. He also said that at times they were short of medical supplies at Tampa. "Fernandina," said Dr. Knowles, "was in my judgment a charming place for a camp. The site of the hospital at Fernandina I regard as a proper one."

SUFFERING AT CAMP THOMAS.

The Rev. Helen Stuart Richards, of Boston, testified on the condition of the hospitals at Camp fied on the condition of the hospitals at Camp Thomas, where she helped care for the soldiers from June 2 to August 1, by permission of General Brooke. She said: "In the Second Division, Third Corps, hospital I would mention the general dirt and disorder, the lack of disinfectants and the horrible stench. Patients were frequently filthy, and they were infrequently bathed. Some with high fevers were never bathed, not having even their necks and arms sponged. I found patients with their eyes, nostrils and mouths full of horrible files. Mosquito netting was there, but it was not always in use; there was utter neglect to put the mosquito netting down where it would relieve the men. My opinion is that the nurses were incompetent, but that is not strange, perhaps, in view of the fact that they were taken from the ranks."

Dr. Conner. That is the only way they could be provided under the Army regulations.

Mrs. Richards said she could not give any special incident evidencing neglect on the part of any doctor in the hospital.

Captain George S. Young, Company H. 7th Infantry, testified to having returned from Cuba on hoard the Concha, which carried 175 sick men. No medical officer was detailed to go with the ship, but Dr. Lesser, a volunteer doctor from the Red Cross, was aboard, and had with him a pharmacist and eight Red cross women nurses. There was nothing to eat on the boat excepting ordinary rations, not any such food as sick people could eat. Thomas, where she helped care for the soldiers

Millinery

We exhibit this morning in the Milliners Parlors, a collection of entirely new Hats, Bonnets and Toques, prepared with especial reference to Horse Show demands. It is a collection that cannot be described, -no worthy collection could be. It will probably be enough to say that it represents our best efforts, and will be found entirely worthy of the clientele for which it is prepared and the purpose to which the hats are especially dedicated.

sured. The Chicago promoters say the $50,000,000 of capital stock has already been oversubscribed. Between $8,000,000 and $7,000,000 were underwritten in this city, and applications from Chicago and vicinity which were received to-day amounted to nearly $50,000. The organizers have figures showing that the output of the tin industry this year is eight million boxes, and a low estimate places the product of next year at about nine million.

BROOKLYN NEWS IN BRIEF. F. P. Olcott, acting for the Reorganization Committee of the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad, yesterday, at the Real Estate Exchange, bought at auction the bonds of the railroad under foreclosure proceedings, brought by the Central Trust Company. The sale was the first practical step toward the reorganization of the road and taking it out of the hands of the receiver, Frederick Uhlmann The mortgage bonds on the Brooklyn Elevated were $3,500,000; those of the Union were $6,150,000, and those of the Seaside Line were $365,000. The three roads were bid in for $5,507,500. It will now require about thirty days to perfect the title of the road, which will hereafter be known as the Brooklyn Union Elevated Company. Justice Frederick A. Ward said last night that he was not a candidate for the office of District-At-torney, which Governor Roosevelt will be called upon to fill on account of the elevation to the Su preme Court Bench of District-Attorney Marean.
